

Scholarships, Bursaries & Prizes Policy

1. Introduction

This policy sets out the scholarships, bursaries and prizes available to higher education students studying at The London Institute of Banking & Finance:

- Scholarships are intended to recognise outstanding academic achievement in pre-entry qualifications and their potential as a student of The London Institute of Banking & Finance.
- Means tested bursaries are available to help support students financially.
- Prizes are intended to encourage and reward high academic achievement and recognise student engagement that does not form part of the formal assessment process.

The distribution and disbursement of all scholarships, bursaries and prizes is overseen by the Scholarships, Bursaries and Grants Committee (SBGC), acting on behalf of The London Institute of Banking & Finance Board of Governors.

2. Scholarships

2.1 Postgraduate Programmes (full and part-time study modes)

2.1.1 Availability

Up to 10 Global Masters Scholarships, each worth £2,000, are available to non-UK based self-funded students who register to study.

Five UK Masters Scholarships, each worth £2,000, are available to UK based self-funded students who register to study.

LIBF Scholarships, each worth £1,500, are available to all graduates of The London Institute of Banking & Finance.

Up to 20 Entry Scholarships, each worth £500, are available to students studying a postgraduate degree with an overseas collaborative partner.

2.1.2 Eligibility

Scholarships are not available towards the staged awards of the PGCert or PGDip.

Only one scholarship is available per recipient.

Only applicants who have received an offer of admission (conditional or unconditional) by the admissions closing date will be considered.

2.1.3 Application Procedure

Applicants requesting a scholarship should indicate which scholarship they would like to apply for on the Programme Application Form.

Those applying for a Global Masters Scholarship are required to indicate within their personal statement how they believe the Masters will support their understanding of international banking and finance.

Those applying for a UK Masters Scholarship are required to indicate within their personal statement how they believe the Masters will support their understanding of banking and finance.

All scholarship applications will be considered after the closing date for admissions. Students will be notified of the outcome before the start of the programme.

2.1.4 Payment

Masters scholarships are applied in the form of a discount on course fees. No cash, credit or other alternative will be offered.

2.2 Undergraduate Programmes (full-time study mode)

2.2.1 Availability

CeFS and DipFS Scholarships each worth either £750 or £500 are available to first year students who have completed The London Institute of Banking & Finance Certificate in Financial Studies (CeFS) and/or Diploma in Financial Studies (DipFS) qualifications.

Three Alumni Scholarships each worth £1,000 are available to UK first year students.

Two Alumni Scholarships each worth £1,000 are available to EU/International first year students.

Two Scholarships for Women into Finance each worth £1,500 are available to UK/EU/International female first year students.

Three Scholarships for 'Women into Finance from POLAR4 Q1/Q2' worth £1,500 are available to UK and EU with settled status female first year students.

Five Scholarships for 'Mature Learners' each worth £1,000 are available to UK and EU with settled status first year students.

2.2.2 Eligibility

CeFS and DipFS Scholarships worth £750 are awarded to the top 1% of students in their year of study and achieve all 'A' grades in their units. Eligible students will be identified by the Financial Capability programmes team.

CeFS and DipFS Scholarships worth £500 are awarded to students who achieve an overall grade of 'A'. Eligible students will be identified by the Financial Capability programmes team.

Alumni Scholarships are awarded for outstanding achievement in pre-entry qualifications. Consideration is given to the subjects studied and relevance to our degree programmes. Awards are at the discretion of the SBGC.

Women into Finance Scholarships are awarded to first year female students who have met their minimum terms of their offer conditions and have demonstrated an aspiration to work in the Banking & Finance industry during the application process. These scholarships are made up of three £500 payments as follows:

- The first payment is based on pre-entry qualifications and the desire to work in Banking and Finance.
- The second payment is based on continued academic achievement, 80% attendance and engagement during year 1.
- The third and final payment is based on continued academic achievement, 80% attendance and engagement during year 2.

Mature Learners Scholarships are awarded to first year students who have met their minimum terms of their offer conditions and are aged 21 or older. Consideration is given to their aspiration to work in the Banking & Finance industry during the application process. Awards are at the discretion of the SBGC.

Recipients must not be in receipt of any other London Institute of Banking & Finance scholarship payable in the same year.

2.2.3 Application Procedure

No formal application is necessary for Scholarships.

2.2.4 Payment

Following confirmation by the SBGC students will be notified of their award by 30 November. Payment, arranged by the HE Programme Team, will be made directly into the students' bank accounts in December.

Applicants who do not register to study with The London Institute of Banking & Finance will forfeit their scholarship.

2.3 Undergraduate Programmes (part-time study mode)

2.3.1 Availability

Scholarships in the form of course fee subsidies, up to the value of £1,000, are available to UK students.

2.3.2 Eligibility

Applicants must be studying a part-time HE qualification at The London Institute of Banking & Finance consisting of a minimum of four modules (students applying with exemptions will also be considered on a case by case basis).

Applicants must not be in receipt of any other London Institute of Banking & Finance scholarship in the same year.

Applicants must have a clear focus and have demonstrated an aspiration to work in the Banking & Finance industry during the application process.

2.3.3 Application Procedure

Applicants are required to download and complete the part-time Student Scholarship application form which is available on the LIBF website. Applications can be submitted before applying to study or after a place has been confirmed.

To assist with budget planning, scholarships can be 'agreed in principle' in advance of a student starting their course.

Following confirmation by the SBGC students will be notified of the outcome within 20 working days.

2.3.4 Payment

Scholarships are applied in the form of a discount to the course fees. No cash, credit or other alternative payment will be offered.

3. Bursaries

3.1 Undergraduate Programmes (full-time mode)

3.1.1 Availability

Means Tested Bursaries are available to students who meet our eligibility criteria.

Two Asylum Seeker Bursaries worth a maximum of three years tuition fees each are available to support asylum seekers wishing to pursue a career in banking finance.

3.1.2 Eligibility

For Means Tested Bursaries students must be in receipt of a tuition loan from Student Finance England (SFE). Total household income must be £40,000 or less per year. The amount available depends on total annual household income (please see table below).

Total Household Income per annum	Bursary Amount
Up to £25,000	£1,000.00
£25,000 - £30,000	£650.00
£30,000 - £40,000	£300.00

Students must also meet our minimum attendance criteria of 80%.

Asylum Seeker bursaries are available to applicants who are not eligible for a Student Finance England tuition fee loan or any other loans normally available.

3.1.3 Application Procedure

No application is necessary to LIBF for Means Tested Bursaries. However, students are required to apply for funding direct to the SFE. SFE will undertake a household income assessment and students are required to give consent, both personally and from their family, for their household income data to be shared with LIBF.

Applications/enquiries for the Asylum Seeker bursaries must be made through the HE Programmes Team. Applicants will be required to write a 500-600 word statement indicating why they want to work in banking and finance. Applications will be considered at the discretion of the Admissions Review Panel and approved by the SBGC.

3.1.4 Payment

Means Tested Bursaries are paid in two instalments directly to the students' bank account. Payments, arranged by the HE Programme Team, are made at the end of each semester once the attendance registers have been reviewed and awards have been signed off by the SBGC.

Asylum Seeker Bursaries are made up of three fee waiver payments as follows:

- First payment (annual tuition cost) is based on pre-entry qualifications and a statement as to why they want to work in Banking and Finance.
- The second payment (annual tuition cost) is based on continued academic achievement and engagement during year 1.
- The third and final payment (annual tuition cost) is based on continued academic achievement and engagement during year 2.
- No cash, credit or other alternative will be offered.

Bursaries will not be payable in a year that a student is not registered, undertaking a one year industry placement or does not meet the eligibility criteria.

3.2 Undergraduate Programmes (part-time mode)

3.2.1 Availability

Means Tested Bursaries are available to students who meet our eligibility criteria.

3.2.2 Eligibility

An applicant's household income must be £25,000 or less per annum. Applicants must be in receipt of Universal Credit. Non-UK nationals must have a full UK residency in order to apply.

3.2.3 Application Procedure

Applications must be made via the LIBF website. Applications should also be made at the same time or before the module or programme registration date. Applications must be supported by proof of benefits the applicant is currently receiving. A new application is required for each session.

Applications will be reviewed by the Programme Manager and decisions approved by the SBGC.

3.2.4 Payment

Bursaries are applied in the form of a 40% discount on course fees. Students are responsible for payment of full fees for second attempts at components or subsequent attempts at the same module and for additional support materials.
