1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Purpose and scope of regulations

- 1.1.1. These regulations apply to all students¹ studying for a LIBF higher education award, regardless of their location, their mode of study (full-time, part-time or as an apprentice) and if delivered through an arrangement with a collaborative partner.
- 1.1.2. The Academic Board has final responsibility for the academic standard of awards of LIBF, including the final approval of the regulations. LIBF can, without notice, amend these regulations by agreement of the Academic Board.
- 1.1.3. Normally any changes to the regulations will come into effect at the beginning of the next academic session. LIBF may, at its discretion, introduce changes during a session where it is either in the best interests of students, or necessary (for example due to changes in the law).
- 1.1.4. Once students are enrolled, they will sign a declaration to agree to our regulations, policies, and student charter.
- 1.1.5. These regulations should be read together with the LIBF Code of Practice for Quality Assurance (Code of Practice) and its supporting policies, the Student Charter and dual award framework.
- 1.1.6. Any amendments to these regulations will be published on LIBF's website and, where necessary, advised to students.
- 1.1.7. In cases of disagreement about the understanding of these regulations, the decision of the Managing Director, Higher Education shall be final.
- 1.1.8. For Dual awards offered with a collaborative partner, each partner's award will be governed by their own regulations at programme level, for example credits and classifications/grades. Regulations at module level will be applied by the delivery partner.

6. ADMISSIONS AND REGISTRATION

6.1 Admissions

6.1.1. Applicants (or employers or training providers on behalf of apprentices if applicable) shall provide LIBF with full and accurate academic and personal information for the admission process. If LIBF discovers that information has been withheld, or is inaccurate or fraudulent in any way, the matter will be dealt with in line with LIBF's Code of Practice (Chapter 9: Malpractice). As a consequence, LIBF may cancel the application or the registration.

6.2 Age limits [Not applicable for apprentices]

6.2.1. Students who have reached the age of 17 but not the age of 18 on the first day of the month in which their programme of study starts will only be admitted with the written consent of an appropriate adult (for example a parent, guardian, or employer).

6.3 Entry requirements

6.3.1. LIBF will determine the criteria for entry for applicants, and their admission judged against the criteria for entry.

6.3.2. LIBF may use additional means such as personal statements, written tasks and /or interviews, etc, to judge the eligibility and suitability of an applicant.

6.3.3. In respect of criteria for entry and the admission of applicants, separate procedures will apply for different study routes and types of programmes, e.g. apprenticeships.

6.3.4. LIBF may admit an applicant to a programme where:

- i. It has a reasonable expectation that the applicant will be able to complete the programme and achieve the award;
- ii. The applicant is deemed to have satisfied the entry requirements for the programme.

6.3.5. Before starting their study, all applicants must have satisfied the entry criteria confirmed in the programme specification (or, in the case of apprentices, satisfied the employer's recruitment processes).

6.3.6. Students, excluding apprentices, who apply outside of UCAS are required to sign a declaration confirming their compliance with the published entry criteria.

6.3.7. LIBF reserves the right, as part of the registration process, to require students to submit authenticated evidence of how they meet the entry requirements.

6.4 Registration

- 6.4.1. Students should apply for the programme they wish to study by completing the relevant application / enrolment / UCAS form and submitting evidence, where required, that they meet the required entry criteria.
- 6.4.2. It is the students' responsibility to ensure they register for modules and assessments in a timely manner.

6.5 Student Information

- 6.5.1. Due to statutory requirements, LIBF must be given information for each student at the time of registration, including:
- i. The student's full name;
 - ii. Their current home, employer and campus addresses, where appropriate; iii.
- Their email and telephone contact details.

Any change to these details must be reported to LIBF as soon as possible.

- 6.5.2. LIBF will use email as the main form of communication with students; it therefore becomes the student's responsibility to check their emails on a regular basis.
- 6.5.3. Students who change their name, and wish this change to be recorded with LIBF, must provide notification supported by the relevant, authenticated documentation.

6.6 Recognition of Prior Learning

- 6.6.1. LIBF recognises three forms of prior learning by students either as a basis for entry to its programmes or to exempt students from some of the requirements for awards. These are:

- iv. Accreditation of prior certificated learning (APCL);
 - v. Accreditation of prior experiential learning (APEL); and vi. Accreditation
- of in-house education programmes.

- 6.6.2. These are collectively known as accreditation of prior learning (APL). Information, including how to apply and definitions for each type of APL, can be found in LIBF's Code of Practice (Chapter 3: Accreditation of Prior Learning).
- 6.6.3. There are limits for how much accreditation of prior learning can be included towards an award when the learning has been undertaken with external organisations, as described below:
- i. For Undergraduate awards, accreditation of prior learning may be recognised for credit up to an amount of 50% of each level at Levels 4 and 5 of the programme, unless otherwise stated in the programme specification. APL may be awarded at Level 6 of LIBF's Credit Framework for students who have completed a relevant Professional Education Qualification with the LIBF.

- ii. For Postgraduate awards, accreditation of prior learning may be recognised for credits up to an amount of 50% of the taught modules of a programme, unless otherwise stated in the programme specification.

6.6.4. Taught modules do not include dissertation, project, work-based learning or capstone modules. APL may not be awarded against dissertation, project, work-based learning or capstone modules unless otherwise stated in the programme or module specification.

6.6.5. Modules for which credits have been awarded on the basis of APL are recognised simply as qualifying modules for the award and do not contribute to the grade or classification of an award.

6.6.6. APL cannot be claimed against modules that students have already registered for or completed.

6.6.7. Where students use accreditation of prior learning as an exemption for some of the requirements of the award it must be successfully applied for within the time limits for the level of study it is being used for, as stated within section 7.2.

6.6.8. The decision made by LIBF regarding APL is an academic decision and therefore final.

6.7 Language

6.7.1. Unless determined otherwise by the Academic Board, English will be the language used for all tuition delivery, study materials, assessment, and administration.

6.7.2. Students are expected to have a minimum standard of English as part of the entry requirements for a programme.

6.7.3. Where English is not a student's first language, they will be expected to demonstrate their competence through achieving the IELTS score stated in the relevant programme specification (or equivalent).

6.8 Readmission

6.8.1. Where a student's registration has previously been terminated by LIBF, admission to the same, or a similar programme, will be at the discretion of the Managing Director, Higher Education.

Apprentices	2 years	3 years	4 years

7.2.6. Cases that have been processed through the Special Consideration process may lead to an extension to the time limits.

7.2.7. Students are expected to study continuously and demonstrate their progression on a programme of study. LIBF may exit students if they are inactive during their studies for a period of 12 months or more.

⁴ Please note some bespoke programmes may have differing standard and/or maximum periods of study.

7.2.8. Where students wish to take a break from a course of study they must apply to defer.

7.2.9. For apprentices, any break in learning or deferral will be considered in consultation with LIBF and their employer (and their training provider if applicable).

7.3.4. Students may incur a cost for deferring.

7.3.5. Students who defer their studies must return to study within 13 months from the start date of the deferred module unless otherwise agreed with the Academic Dean.

7.3.6. The time taken out from studying will count towards the programme time limit unless otherwise agreed because of a special consideration.

7.3.7. Students who defer and do not return to study within the time limit will be withdrawn from study.

7.3.8. Any credit achieved from a previously completed module(s) will be carried forward when students return to study. Any module(s) which were not previously completed will need to be started from the beginning.

7.4 Student transfer

7.5 Student withdrawal

7.5.1. LIBF recognises that students who register for a programme may need to cancel or withdraw their registration(s). The procedures for this are confirmed in LIBF's Student Withdrawal Policy.

7.3.9. Students may later be readmitted to the same or an alternative programme, with the permission of the Director of Studies and Managing Director, Higher Education.

8. ASSESSMENT

8.3.1. LIBF will reject submissions that are not made in the requested format.

8.3.2. Submitted assessments will be checked to ensure their integrity, for example through a plagiarism detection process.

8.3.3. Where there is a set deadline for an assignment, late submission of the assignment will not be accepted. LIBF will determine the time of assignment submission based on internal timestamps.

8.4 Pass marks

8.4.1. To pass an assessment component students must:

- i. Achieve 40% at Undergraduate level;
- ii. Achieve 50% at Postgraduate level.

8.4.2. To pass a module students must:

- i. Achieve the module pass mark (40% at Undergraduate level and 50% at Postgraduate level); and
- ii. Where a module has more than one assessment component, achieve a minimum mark in each assessment component (20% at Undergraduate level and 25% at Postgraduate level).

8.4.3. Students who do not attend or submit their assessment will be graded as a DNS ('Did Not Sit') and will need to resit the assessment.

8.4.4. Once students have met the criteria to pass a module, they cannot resit any assessment components.

8.5 Failure and Reassessment

8.5.1. Students who fail a module be given one opportunity to resit (or resubmit if their programme allows) one or more failed assessment component(s) to then pass the module.

8.5.2. Where an assessment is resat, students need to keep up to date with any amendments/and or updates made to the syllabus.

8.5.3. Where students successfully resit an assessment, the mark will be capped at the pass mark for that assessment

8.5.4. Students cannot continue on their programme of study if they do not achieve the required number and level of credits for that programme.

8.5.5. Students may be charged a fee for reassessment.

8.5.6. In exceptional circumstances, students who have failed to pass an elective module may be allowed to switch to another elective module (not available to apprentices). A fee may be charged to students who change to a new module.

8.6 Alternative assessment

8.6.1. In exceptional circumstances, and where their programme allows, students who have failed to pass an elective module may be allowed to switch to another elective module. A fee may be charged to students who change to a new module.

9. REASONABLE ADJUSTMENTS

9.1 Reasonable adjustments

9.1.1. LIBF supports students for whom the standard learning, teaching and assessment arrangements may adversely affect their ability to demonstrate their true performance level.

9.1.2. Students should apply for a reasonable adjustment if they need assistance because of a disability or special educational need.

9.1.3. The detailed procedure and conditions to apply for reasonable adjustments are set out in LIBF's Reasonable Adjustments Policy and Code of Practice (Chapter 7: Assessment).

10. SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

10.1.1. Any student whose studies are significantly affected by temporary circumstances beyond their control should complete an application under the Special Consideration Policy.

11. PROGRESSION

11.1 Progression (programme specific)

11.1.1. On certain programmes of study, to progress from one level of a programme to the next, students must pass all modules required at the previous level or be approved to trail credits. Progression is approved by the Assessment Board.

11.1.2. The programme specification may require that particular modules be studied and / or passed before students can progress.

11.1.3. If exceptional circumstances have negatively impacted a student's study for the whole academic year, they may be allowed to repeat the year. Students who repeat a year will be required to retake any previously completed modules.

11.2 Trailing credits (programme specific)

11.2.1. Trailing credits is where, on certain programmes of study, students may progress to the next level of a programme without achieving all the required credits at the former level. Trailing credits must be agreed by the Assessment Board.

11.2.2. Students may only study trailed credits at the next level if they have fulfilled any prerequisites for the study of modules at the higher level.

11.2.3. Where trailed credits are not achieved at the new level of study no further progression / completion will normally be allowed.

11.3 Deferred credit (Apprenticeship programmes only)

11.3.1. Students studying an apprenticeship programme may follow a different route to achieve their credits. For example, Accreditation of Prior Learning for Levels 4 and 5 (up to 50 per cent for each level) may be completed during the final stage (i.e. Level 6) of their programme of study.

11.3.2. Progression and trailing credits for students studying an apprenticeship programme will be based on modules scheduled for completion.

12. GRANTING AWARDS

12.1 Assessment Boards

12.1.1. All decisions about the outcomes of assessments and modules are considered by an Assessment Board.

12.1.2. Module marks and programme grades/ classifications are approved by an Assessment Board. The date of the award is the date it was approved by the Programme Assessment Board.

12.1.3. Provisional assessment marks will be released to students after their assessment but may be withheld under exceptional circumstances. If this is the case, students will be advised of the revised release of provisional results.

12.2 Classifications and grades

12.2.1. The grade / classification of an award will be determined by reference to the overall average module mark per level (dependent on module credit values), and the prescribed weighting between levels (see below for further details). 14.2 Appeals

14.2.1. Appeals may only be made on specific grounds and criteria. Information and guidance on the process for making an appeal can be found in LIBF's Code of Practice (Chapter 10: Student Complaints and Appeals).

14.3 Office of the Independent Adjudicator

12.3.1. The Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education (OIA) runs an independent scheme to review the internal processes of its member providers. LIBF is a member of this scheme. If students are unhappy with the outcome of a decision made by LIBF, they may be able to ask the OIA to review their case.
